

And so, it's going to take a complete overthrow of the federal government, since they have tried this [I specifically warned my project managers that they are doing this — they can make up their own minds, having been educated in Stanford and Berkeley, I think] if they are going to actually escape the consequences of

- Publicly calling for the execution of politicians that have not been convicted in state, national, or international courts, let alone charged
- Publicly calling for the execution of military personnel and researchers that have not been convicted in state, national, or international courts, let alone charged
- Attempting to seize Governor Gavin Newsom's troops without a legal basis
- Publicly calling for immunity for crimes that carry a permanent ban on holding federal office, on the basis of holding federal office
- Privately calling for immunity for crimes that carry a ban on holding federal office, on the basis of holding federal office
- Destroying evidence last year of their knowledge in federal government agencies of the real nature of the damage that was done last year to Boeing, General Motors, Intel, and LPL Financial
- Destroying evidence this year of their knowledge in federal government agencies of the real nature of the more than twenty trillion dollar market decline, based on the approximate assumption of the Standard and Poor 500 index being half of the planet's global public equity
- Destroying the evidence of laundering the use of the proceeds
- Trafficking classified documents to and from Jamaica, which promptly sold them to East Asian countries
- Trafficking insider information to Argentina, which was obtained through wire fraud and obstruction of justice and wiretapping

If it is written, "Love your enemies," then is it right to murder those who are not?

If it is written, "Pray for those who persecute you," then is it right to make prey of those who do not?
